

TALMADGE MAKES STRONG EARLY BID

Georgians Seem Undecided on How Emphatic 'No' to Roosevelt Would Be.

By the Associated Press.

The race between Senator George and former Gov. Eugene Talmadge indicated today that the Georgia voters were a little undecided about how emphatic they would say "No" to President Roosevelt.

If the former Governor had won the Democratic senatorial nomination it would have been equivalent to lacking a couple of strong adjectives to the front of the negative. For Mr. Talmadge and President Roosevelt do not speak the same language; there have been times when they had trouble speaking each other's names.

An increasing margin for Senator George, however, forecast the return to the Senate of a man who has been less outspoken than Mr. Talmadge against various Roosevelt policies. The apparent outcome, nevertheless, was a distinct rebuff to the Chief Executive, for his candidate, Lawrence Camp, limped along in third place.

Was Political Unknown.

Mr. Camp had been strongly handicapped from the beginning. It was his first appearance as a candidate for a Statewide elective office. He was a political unknown. He had no Statewide organization. He had to build from the ground up.

Senator George, on the other hand, had political ties all over the State, ties that had been knotted over a period of 16 years in the Senate. Mr. Talmadge, who was commissioner of agriculture before he became Governor, also was a State figure. His political alliances had served him well over the last 10 years.

Through their loud speakers night after night Georgians were told by Mr. Camp's opponents that an effort had been made to dictate their vote, that their own integrity as citizens was on trial—not the integrity of Senator George as their servant. There were many who contended that the presidential utterance in favor of Mr. Camp finally became a handicap to him.

Rivers Had Hard Battle.

Gov. E. D. Rivers, a Roosevelt supporter, did not swing the weight of his Statewide organization against Mr. Camp. The Governor had a hard battle of his own to fight. His supporters were divided in their senatorial sympathies.

If Gov. Rivers supported one senatorial candidate, his own lines would crumble. That was the way he and his advisors figured the situation. That was what they told President Roosevelt when he was in Georgia to urge the election of Mr. Camp.

Much was said in the campaign about the anti-lynching bill by all of the candidates. But save as a talking point, which was always certain to bring cheers from the crowd, it figured very little as an issue. All the voters were pretty certain that any one of the candidates would oppose an anti-lynching bill if he came to the Senate.

Farm Vote Figured.

What did figure very strongly was the farm vote and the reactions that had spread from the handling of cotton and tobacco allotments.

Many of those who went from farms to vote passed through fields littered with full-grown cotton that was being destroyed in efforts to comply with quotas. Some of the farmers had destroyed under cotton twice to meet their allotments. And no farmer likes to destroy a crop on which he has spent fertilizer and weeks of work.

How strong a part this played would be hard to determine. But Mr. Talmadge's strongest vote came from the farming sections. And it was there that this feeling lay.

JONES SEEN VICTOR IN ARIZONA RACE

State Senator's Lead Rises to 1,865—Hayden Is Easy Winner.

By the Associated Press.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 15.—State Senator R. T. Jones, Phoenix druggist, appeared assured of the Democratic nomination for the Arizona Governorship early today when his lead increased to 1,865 votes in returns from 358 complete and 61 incomplete precincts of the State's 433.

Mr. Jones had 33,785 votes to 31,920 for Secretary of State James H. Kerby and 30,398 for Sidney P. Osborn, Phoenix publisher.

Jerrie W. Lee, Phoenix, was unopposed for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

United States Senator Carl Hayden and Representative John R. Murdock, both Democrats, won easy victories.

FOUR FACE HEARING ON LOTTERY CHARGES

Two of Six Seized in Raids Freed. Numbers Slips and Tip Sheets Confiscated.

Four persons were to be given preliminary hearings before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage today on charges of lottery law and other violations, the result of a series of raids by police and United States marshals on three alleged numbers establishments late yesterday.

A large quantity of numbers slips, "cram books," tip sheets and other paraphernalia was confiscated. Six persons were arrested, but two were released after questioning at headquarters.

Detective Sgt. George Deyo of the vice squad led the raids. At a house in the 2000 block of E street N.W., the officers found Mary Thomasson, colored, 40, stuffing alleged numbers slips into a lighted stove, Sgt. Deyo said. The papers were recovered, however. The woman and her husband, Brown Thomasson, 42, were charged with operating a lottery and possession of lottery slips.

Helen Johnson, colored, 28, was arrested in a raid in the 400 block of Twentieth street N.W. and charged on five counts involving numbers and whisky. Charles Brown, colored, 18, of the 2000 block of M street, was arrested as he stood in front of his home. He was charged with operating a lottery and possessing numbers slips.

Run Close Race in Georgia

With grim face, Senator Walter F. George sat by the radio in his home at Vienna last night and heard returns from Georgia's Democratic primary, in which he and former Gov. Eugene Talmadge were running a close race. When this picture was made, Talmadge was ahead.

Beaming happily and expressing confidence of victory, former Gov. Talmadge remained at his headquarters in Atlanta during the primary and read telegrams wishing him success. Copyright, A. P. Wirephotos.

another county with two unit votes in which only one precinct was missing. With 1,597 of the 1,735 precincts in the State reporting, Mr. George's popular vote was 123,403; Mr. Camp's 66,405, and Mr. Talmadge's, 89,174.

The total popular vote in the Senate race was 278,982, or 64.08 per cent of the State registration.

Gov. Rivers Leading.

Gov. E. D. Rivers, seeking renomination to "complete" a little New Deal program, was leading in 95 counties with 264 unit votes.

Hugh Howell, former Democratic State chairman, was second in the gubernatorial race with 144 unit votes in 63 counties.

John J. Mangham, Bremen business man, was third, with two unit votes from one county, his home county of Haralson.

Robert F. Wood, the fourth candidate, had no unit votes.

Reports were complete in the Governor's race in 97 counties and incomplete in the other 62.

Popular returns for Governor were: Mr. Rivers, 139,496; Mr. Howell, 115,570; Mr. Mangham, 15,368, and Mr. Wood, 1,528.

There were only 141 precincts missing. The vote this year compared with a total in the 1936 primary of 390,894, in 1934 of 270,257 and in 1932 of 276,647.

Switched Support.

Strong supporters of the President in Georgia worked hard against Mr. Camp and in favor of Mr. George in the campaign now closed. Many of them insist they are still strong for the President. They would not, however, yield to his demand that they nominate a Senator in place of Walter F. George.

The unexpectedly strong run made by Mr. Talmadge was due in part to his popularity in rural districts, built up over a period of many years, and in part to resentment among the cotton and tobacco farmers over the operation of the administration's new farm law. Senator George, who voted for the passage of the law, although he sought to amend it before it passed the Senate, was under fire from the start because of this resentment on the part of the farmers.

A fourth candidate for the senatorial nomination, W. G. McRae, Atlanta attorney and Townsendite candidate, withdrew from the race a short time before the primary and sought to throw his votes to Mr. Camp. But nothing, apparently, could help Mr. Camp effectively. A few votes were cast for Mr. McRae in the primary yesterday despite his withdrawal.

Gov. Rivers Leading.

In the gubernatorial contest, Gov. Rivers appears to have won renomination, although Hugh Howell, former chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee, during the days when Mr. Talmadge was governor, made a strong race. Two other candidates for the nomination trailed far behind.

Mr. Camp last night admitted his defeat and offered his congratulations to the "successful candidate," without naming him. Mr. Camp added: "I regret that the fight has not succeeded at this time, but it is a fight with the pre-school work done in Peru."

Senator Tydings Congratulated on Victory by Farley

Senator Tydings Congratulated on Victory by Farley

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 15.—The right-hand man of the President, Postmaster General and Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley, congratulated Senator Millard E. Tydings on his renomination over the administration candidate, Representative David J. Lewis.

Senator Tydings' headquarters received this telegram: "May I, as chairman of the Democratic National Committee, congratulate you upon your victory in the primary. Your success in November is, of course, assured."

The message was signed, "J. A. Farley."

that must win in the end." His statement, in this respect, was similar to one made by Representative Lewis of Maryland, when he commented upon his defeat by Senator Tydings last Monday. If Mr. Lewis and Mr. Camp are right, the Roosevelt New Dealers, and the President himself, will continue to work for the retirement of conservative Democrats from Congress and the substitution of the New Deal brand.

Under the Georgia primary law, a candidate for senatorial or gubernatorial nomination must receive a majority of the "county unit vote." In the entire State there are 410 county unit votes, divided among the eight larger cities, which have six each, 31 counties with four each and over a hundred smaller counties with two each. The candidate having a plurality in each county gets the entire county unit vote. If no candidate has a majority of the county unit vote, or 206 votes, a run-off primary becomes necessary between the two leading candidates.

Mr. Camp is out of the race in the event a run-off for the senatorial nomination should become necessary. Senator George, it is confidently predicted, would win in such a run-off primary against Talmadge. It would be held October 4.

PERUVIAN EDUCATOR VISITS W. P. A. NURSERIES

Senorita Emilia Barcia, Director of Pre-School Work, Inspects Four Units Here.

Carrying out President Roosevelt's well as commercial and diplomatic grounds, Senorita Emilia Barcia, director of pre-school education in Peru, yesterday made an inspection tour of Washington's W. P. A. nursery schools, accompanied by local W. P. A. officials.

Senorita Barcia has been studying pre-school programs for the past few months in the United States. She came here for the first time two days ago and yesterday was taken to four District of Columbia W. P. A. nursery schools. She expressed the opinion that the Works Progress Administration's program would fit in admirably with the pre-school work done in Peru.

CHEST AGENCIES TO HOLD PARLEYS

Amount Each Unit Will Seek to Be Set in Series of Talks.

The amount each member agency of the Community Chest will seek in the forthcoming campaign for funds to carry on its work next year will be determined in a series of conferences during the next five weeks, Chest officials announced today.

The Chest Budget Committee began meeting this week with representatives of the various Chest agencies, planning three conferences a week until the middle of October. The committee members will review records of the past year's expenses as presented by each of the Chest agencies and consider requests for the detailed amounts needed next year.

The varied welfare work done by the agencies sharing in the Chest funds will be described at a meeting of the Engineers Union Local No. 77 at 8:30 o'clock tonight by Charles E. Smoot, volunteer chairman of the Chest Speakers' Bureau.

Heads Budget Group.

J. S. Gorrell of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. is chairman of the budget committee for the second consecutive year.

"Careful budgeting is vital to the efficient use of the money contributed by the citizens of Washington through the Community Chest to the more than three-score member agencies," he said. "The decision of the Budget Committee will take into account the large view of the city's welfare needs, together with the probable sum that will be contributed and the programs of the separate agencies."

Members of Committee.

After the campaign for funds is completed the committee will reconvene to allocate to each agency its share of the actual total pledged by contributors.

Those serving on the Budget Committee with Mr. Gorrell include Caesar L. Alelio, Fred E. Altmanus, Albert E. Conrad, Col. L. C. Crawford, Joshua Evans, Jr., C. Marshall Finnan, Mrs. Gilbert Hahn, Harold G. Haydon, Isadore Hershfield, Mrs. Bishop P. Hill, A. F. E. Horst, Mrs. Milton W.
